

Cynthia
L. Simmons

Homeschooling

Cynthia L. Simmons homeschooled her five children through high school, including her youngest who is autistic spectrum. Cynthia feels a special kinship to the mother who teaches at home and loves sharing encouragement.

"Hearing Cynthia speak on numerous occasions puts a smile on my face every time! She always manages to capture the audience with her vivid delivery. Candy A. Westbrook, Motivational Speaker, Author, High Heels, Cleats and Helmets"

"Cynthia radiates sincerity as she speaks and presents to her audience a genuine sense of place. She is authentic, approachable, and allows her listeners to relate to her subject. Her listeners love her quiet demeanor and gentle spirit." ~ Michael L. Anderson, Past President of Christian Authors Guild.

"A gifted orator who comes to the table fully equipped, Cynthia will effortlessly guide her audience through complicated material with ease and comprehension." Susan. M. Watkins, Author

"Cynthia Simmons gave a splendid portrayal of Katie Luther, wife of Martin Luther. Her dress, mannerisms, and disc of the difference in our centuries was compelling. I even learned something – that Martin Luther loved for EVERY Christian to show the light of God through their celebrating the season with communities coming together with candle-lit trees, songs, dancing, and laughter." -Cindy Pope, writer and speaker.

Topics:

It's too Hard! Surviving Your Special Needs Child – A disabled child learns differently and that adds pressure to the homeschool mom. While telling her own story, Cynthia demonstrates how to keep life normal and plan for the future.

Cover Their Eyes and Ears: Teach Your Children to Think – As mothers we long to protect our children from the ungodly philosophies sweeping our nation. Cynthia will give you invaluable tools to prepare your child to discern truth from error. This is a very popular class.

You're Reading What?: Use Scripture to Teach Reasoning Skills – This class gives additional information on how to teach reasoning. Cynthia will share ways to use Bible study to teach your children to reason.

Another Mistake? Teach Excellence without Oppressing Your Child – As homeschool moms we long for our children to reach excellence, but there's a fine line between high goals and perfectionism. In this class, Cynthia shares what a good home looks like and how to encourage without breaking your child's spirit.

How to Homeschool without Losing Your Sanity – Cynthia's mother often said if she got her children to adulthood, she wouldn't have enough sense to come in out of the rain. Once Cynthia had children of her own, she understood her mother's distress, and she helps that overwhelmed mother find ways to cope with all the chores. This class is a must for mothers of large families.

Homeschool and Stay Organized – A homeschool mother has too many jobs and lack of organization can cause added stress. Cynthia demonstrated that mothers can stay on top of the craziness and enjoy her family.

Make Homeschool a Lifestyle- – Moms who choose to teach at home often juggle thousands of responsibilities, and they can feel crushed under the load. Cynthia will share how to blend education into your life so that it brings your family closer

Wow, Woman! Katie Luther on Proverbs 31 – In this class "Katie" the wife of the Reformer, Martin Luther, makes an appearance. You can learn a lot about history, and the Psalms while having fun.

Contact: Cynthia@christianauthorsguild.org or cynthiasimmons@gmail.com